JOIN THE JAM! CALL FOR PARTICIPATION!

Orsimanirana is the planet to come! It's the planet we want to fight for – a planet that supports equality and harmony between non-humans and humans of all sexualities, ethnic groups, and genders.

Radio Orsimanirana broadcasts and amplifies our collective power to dream an alternative world.

The radio in itself is a decentralised, generative form of world-building!

That's why our radio programming is open to every activist group, crazy art collective, and very independent radio – but also every forest, virus, software, and anyone or anything else that desires to jump into the process of co-designing the programme!

The Radio Orsimanirana central station is temporarily based here, in the Museum für Kunst und Gewerbe Hamburg (MK&G), from 22 January 2021 to 20 June 2021. It is equipped with a mic and music instruments that every visitor can use in order to stream sound, organize a talk, or jam live as soon as the museum is open again. On the website www.radio-orsimanirana.com, you can find an archive of already existing radio programmes, as well as a form for proposing your new programme.

We invite you to join our community and contribute your own programming suggestions from everywhere and anywhere you are. Tell us something about your ideas including your motivation and select a time slot for your contribution.

Radio Orsimanirana allows you to stream your own live programmes from home, upload pre-produced audio files, or broadcast content already in the public domain.

Let's meet on the new planet!
